October 16

Trae Sheehan - Join Trae at 3pm for an energetic fun-filled afternoon of music atW.Whitman Books, 304 Main Street, Middleburgh, for his third appearance at Acoustic Vibe Café at W.Whitman Books. He last performed at AVC in Fall 2001 to a sold out audience and now returns to perform songs from his recent CD "Hello from the End of the World" and new songs from his new EP scheduled for release in October 2022.

Born in the heart of Appalachia, singer/songwriter Trae grew up surrounded by music and family in his home state of West Virginia. He pulls inspiration from legendary storytellers such as Bob Dylan, the Eagles, and Randy Newman to form his unique songwriting palette and deliver a sound that can only come from the deep roots of an old West Virginia soul.

Sheehan's earlier album Arizona hit #8 on the Roots Radio Charts and received significant international radio airplay and recognition pushing the boundaries of where he had been and giving a glimpse of where he was headed. His latest CD "Hello from the End of the World," recorded over a short period in the Hudson Valley of New York, reached the Top 100 on the Americana Albums Chart.

Spaceman, a biopic of the longtime southpaw pitcher Bill "Spaceman" Lee, the winner of 119 big league game with the Red Sox and Expos, tells the mostly-true story of one of the sport's all-time great eccentrics, portrayed by actor Josh Duhamel, who eventually finds himself blackballed from the majors in the early 1980s but refuses to quit the game. The Film Festival gets under way at 7pm with a screening of Spaceman in the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum's Bullpen Theater. The 90-minute film is Rated R and may not be suitable for younger audiences. For Spaceman, visitors must use the entrance to the Baseball Hall of Fame's Library building located in Cooper Park.
